

Medical Technologist Series (Classification/Examination Update)

We are continuing our efforts to convert exams from paper form to E-test. This process is designed to make a simple modification to the form/format of the examination from a current self rating instrument to a Credential Assessment instrument that allows a rating of an applicant résumé, cover letter, application, educational transcript and any other relevant information/documentation.

As part of the process, the System Office submitted a draft for the revised examination format to the University System employers for this classification series. Based on a review of the ever evolving technology and credentials associated with this occupational area, we have temporarily suspended our revision efforts to allow additional opportunity to research these complex topics.
